Mark Chaffin Center for Healthy Development– Leadership in Disability – Sponsor-funded Research Assistant Professor (Log# 23-104)

Center for Leadership in Disability, Mark Chaffin Center for Healthy Development, School of Public Health Georgia State University Atlanta, GA

Georgia State University is a leading urban research institution located in Atlanta, Georgia. The School of Public Health at Georgia State University is a CEPH-accredited program with 300 enrolled graduate students and 50+ core faculty. Georgia State University is a leading urban research institution located in Atlanta, Georgia. Successful applicants will join a unique, multi-disciplinary public health program with emphasis in urban health research, applied public health, health policy, and community applications. The Center for Leadership in Disability (CLD) is one of the nation’s 67 University Centers for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities (UCEDD). The CLD’s mission is to translate research into community practices for individuals with disabilities and their families.

The Center for Leadership in Disability in the Mark Chaffin Center for Healthy Development within the School of Public Health at Georgia State University invites applications for full-time, non-tenure track, sponsor-funded Research Assistant Professor. This position is designed to advance research on health equity for individuals with disabilities and their families. Responsibilities will include contributing to ongoing research and capacity-building projects, as well as maintaining a program of externally funded research and participating in service activities within the Center for Leadership in Disability, as well as within the School of Public Health, the institution, and the community.

This sponsor-funded faculty position will involve community-based research on mental health, disability, and equitable access to services for underserved communities.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. in Public Health, Psychology or Child Development from an accredited university, with training or experience in research. Applicants with experience in community engagement and community consultation are encouraged to apply. Salary is negotiable, based on qualifications and experience. Candidates must be eligible to work in the United States at time of offer.

The Center for Leadership resides within the Mark Chaffin Center for Healthy Development within the School of Public Health. The MCCHD is a University Research Center with a strong focus on real world effectiveness and implementation research, reflecting research-to-practice and practice-to-research. MCCHD faculty are engaged in research, service, and instruction to promote health/mental health and well-being, increase meaningful inclusion and quality of life for individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities, and to prevent and address child developmental delays, child maltreatment, and sexual assault.

Georgia State University, a Research University of the University System of Georgia, is an Equal Opportunity Employer and does not discriminate against applicants due to race, ethnicity, gender, veterans status, or on the basis of disability or any other federal, state, or local protected class.
Application Process: Submit a letter of interest; resume or curriculum vitae; and names/contact information for three references to:

Dr. Emily Graybill, Search Committee Chair
(Log# 23-104)
Mark Chaffin Center for Healthy Development,
School of Public Health, Georgia State University
P.O. Box 3995
Atlanta, GA, 30302
Phone: 404-413-1130
Email: publichealthjobs@gsu.edu

Electronic submissions are preferred and should be e-mailed to publichealthjobs@gsu.edu. Please include Health Policy & Behavioral Sciences – Research Assistant Professor Search Committee (Log# 23-104) in the subject line.

Other documentation may be requested of applicants considered for interviews. Employment will be conditional upon a background investigation/verification.